Two Insurance Companies Refuse To Pay Police Damages Award

by Bill Rowland

The two insurance companies that provided police and general liability coverage for the City of Greenbelt in 1981 have both declared that they have no responsibility to pay the $65,000 damages judgment recently awarded by a federal court to Greenbelt resident Peter Ladnier. The decision handed down by the Fourth District Court on October 4 held Greenbelt police officer Fred E. Murray, in his individual capacity, liable for these damages on a charge under federal civil rights law of using unjustified force against Ladnier. The court additionally found Murray liable for $6,605 in attorneys' fees incurred by Ladnier, and the insurance companies have also denied responsibility for that expense.

The position taken by the insurance companies, in letters made available by the city to the News Review, is that their policies did not specifically include liability for violations of civil rights under the federal statute. One of the two firms also cites exclusion clauses in its policy that the firm believes "precludes response to the judgment."

Murray was charged by Ladnier with unnecessary use of force in restraining and handcuffing Ladnier after a pre-dawn collision on August 14, 1981, in which the police car Murray was driving ran into the motorcycle Ladnier was riding. The court found Murray not liable on a negligence claim by Ladnier arising from the vehicle collision, and also not liable on an assault and battery claim by Ladnier. The City of Greenbelt, its police department and police chief were exonerated by the court of related charges.

The insurance firms are Atlanta International Insurance Company, which issued the 1981 policy covering the official actions of city police, and Home Insurance Company, holder in 1981 of the city's general liability insurance. During the court proceedings, Atlanta International retained an attorney to defend the city, the police department, the police chief, and Murray on the civil rights and related charges; and Home Insurance provided an attorney to defend Murray on the charge of negligence in operating the police car.

Both attorneys filed post-trial motions on Murray's behalf, asking that the judge in the case reverse the decision against Murray, or set a new trial, or reduce the dollar award. However, the two insurance companies, in their subsequent letters, disclaimed re-

Police Concerned

Concern among Greenbelt police officers about the protection given them by city-purchased insurance surfaced in the wake of refusal by two insurance companies to pay court-awarded damages and attorney fees for which a city police officer has been found liable. The awards by a federal judge resulted from charges by a Greenbelt resident that the police officer, in 1981, had violated the resident's civil rights as protected by federal law. (See related story.)

In a letter to city council, the Greenbelt Lodge of the Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) asked for a meeting to discuss present police liability insurance coverage. In response, council held a work session on October 25 with FOP representatives and their attorney, Benjamin R. Wolman. Also taking active part in the discussion were City Manager James Giese and City Solicitor Emmett Nanna, as well as a consultant on insurance matters for the city and the agent for the company that currently provides police liability insurance for the city.

The city renews its insurance coverages annually on a bid basis. Because of that renewal practice, the city's police liability insurance is now carried by a different firm than the one that provided that insurance at the

by Mavis Fletcher

The Board of Directors of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. passed the corporation's 1984 budget at the regular meeting on Nov. 3. With Vice-President Frank Gervasi wielding the gavel in the absence of President Margaret Hogenson, the budget was adopted unanimously on a motion by Director Joe Jenkins after relatively little debate. Earlier forums in which the budget had been discussed (a work session and a members' hearing) had apparently provided ample opportunity for the members to raise any questions they had.

The 1984 budget totals $4,720,223. Overall, according to a statement by General Manager Shekar Narasimhan, members charges will remain about the same: many will see a few dollars reduction, some may be a few dollars higher. The stabilized charges are attributed primarily to the use of the '1979 rehab collection' amounting to $219,000, to reduce members' charges in 1984.

Budget highlights include: creation of a rehab stabilization fund to minimize fluctuations in members charges after 1986 when the National Consumer Cooperative Bank rates will change; one dollar per month increases in garage rents; beginning a 5-year capital improvement project to repair the roofs of rental garages; decrease of four management staff positions to a total of 35 (the lowest level, according to a member's remark, since 1953); a 4% salary increase for GHI employees; a decrease in payroll and related overhead.

The budget anticipates receipts of a little more than $4 million from members' charges; the other $640,000 will come primarily from service income, other income and reserves. Member June Didas questioned the advisability of using the 1979 rehab collection to lower 1984 charges by a few dollars for each member per month. She said that on her unit the lowered charge would amount to only about seven dollars, and she felt it might be wiser to use some or all of the money to increase the rehab stabilization reserve. However, according to Narasimhan, in 1982 the board made a commitment to the members to use the collection to reduce members' charges in 1984.

Among several questions which had been raised earlier, Finance Committee had inquired into the proposal to modernize the GHI car and truck fleet. The corporation currently owns five cars and 22 trucks. The average age of the fleet is seven years; average mileage is about 40,000 miles. Management proposes to reduce the number of cars to three and modernize by acquiring one new car in each of the next three years. The truck fleet will also be reduced in number and modernized by replacement of two trucks per year. The board passed unanimously a motion to approve the plan in concept. Specific authorization for expenditure of funds to carry out the plan will depend on later board action.

Roosevelt's Problem Phones Ring, But . . . No Answer

by Robyn Small

Administrators at Eleanor Roosevelt High School can't reach out and touch someone, not if it means using the school's faulty telephone system. That has some parents worried about being able to contact their sons or daughters in emergencies.

PTSA President David Merkwitz says the student's safety was the topic of concern at a recent PTSA meeting. He says the PTSA realizes that correcting the phone problem is both complicated and expensive, but that "it's ironic that a science and technology center is adapted with such faulty equipment."

The eight-year-old system was manufactured by GTE, and according to Roosevelt Principal Ray Ogden, it was not the most efficient on the market at that time. Bill Roe, who handles the telephone systems for the County schools, says the equipment was supposed to last for 10 years when it was installed. In the past year, however, school faculty say the telephones have been out of service for lengthy periods of time, often three or four hours during the school day.

It's that kind of service that has parents worried. Ogden says he knows of no situation where the parents or school have not been able to make contact with one another in an emergency. He categorizes the situation as "basically just bad P.R.," because often the telephone is the first contact a parent has with the school. Ogden adds, access to the two C & P pay phones at the school is very difficult because of their location.

The problem with the GTE system has to do with incoming calls. There are seven trunk lines through which all incoming calls must pass. When the system is down, the caller hears ringing, but the phones do not ring at the school.

Bill Brown, a Contract Services Specialist with the county, says the trunk lines are very sensitive to dust, and it is the sixth of seven trunk lines which has been causing the problem. Brown says that dust had settled on one of the relays and caused the malfunction, but that the problem has now been corrected. Ogden says, however, that the problem has been corrected several times in the past, but never for a long period of time.

Replacing the system this year is not likely, according to both Ogden and Bill Brown. According to Brown, the system isn't likely to be replaced until the fiscal year 1986 budget. Costs for replacing the phone system are estimated between $17,000 and $35,000. For now, it appears the school will have to continue to use the GTE system.

Intruders Terrorize Greenbelt Family

Shortly after midnight on Nov. 5, two men forced their way through the front door of a residence in Lakewood, a quiet residential area of single-family homes in central Greenbelt, and terrorized the family. According to the Greenbelt police, the suspects physically assaulted family members and held them at gunpoint while the house was ransacked. Police have not yet been able to determine whether the suspects followed a family member who had returned home shortly before the assault, or whether they were already in the neighborhood, waiting for an opportunity to enter a house.

The men are described as black males 20-25 years old. One of them was 5'11" and of medium build. He was wearing a ski mask made of thermal underwear, faded blue jeans and a dark jacket. The other was 5'8" tall, with a medium build, close-cropped hair, a light beard and medium complexion. He was wearing a red and white mesh baseball cap, a blue nylon waist-length flight jacket and blue jeans.

Anyone with any information which may have bearing on this crime is urged to call the Greenbelt Police Department at 474-7200.

The department cautions all residents to be alert for suspicious persons or activity and to report any unusual occurrences to the department. It is also advisable to be very cautious about answering the door at an unusual hour.

Crossland to Dedicate John Merricks Stadium

On Saturday, November 12, Crossland High School will honor the memory of its first head football coach when it dedicates the John M. Merricks Memorial Stadium.

Crossland principal Joe Hairston, a football coach at Northwestern in the mid '70s has proclaimed this week, Crossland's 17th Homecoming, to be John Merricks Week in honor of the coach who died at his home in Florida last November 16. The Merricks family were long-time Greenbelt residents.

All those who knew or worked with Coach John Merricks are invited to attend a reception in the school library at noon. At 1 p.m. John's brother, Dr. David Merricks, will participate in a pre-game ceremony on the football field with current and former administrators, teachers, coaches, players, students and local dignitaries to dedicate the stadium.

Merricks joined the school when it opened in 1963. In 1965 Merricks and Crossland began a dominance of Prince Georges County AA football. An operation for cancer caused Merricks to miss the last two games of the 1975 season and the disease caused his retirement in 1978. His final football team in 1977, Class AA Region 2 champions and Maryland state semifinalists, capped a 14-year career during which Merricks led Crossland to a record of 95-35-3, five Prince Georges County Class AA titles and 10 seasons ranked in the Washington Star Metropolitan Area Top Ten.

Greenbelters interested in carpooling to the reception and ceremony may contact Joe O'Loughlin (474-8200) or Pete Labukas (474-9486).

Utopia Production Stars Greenbelters

by John Ward

The Lion in Winter, by James Goldman, will open a three-week run at the Utopia Theater this Friday. The play is a historical dramatic comedy about King Henry II of England and his treacherous, plotting and yet very human and loving family.

The family is concerned with the question of which son will succeed Henry to the throne.

The cast includes Greenbelters Bruce Miller, who was featured as Elias in the Greenbelt Players recent production of Dr. Cook's Garden, as Henry, and Marie Tounsignant, of Olivewood Court, who has been in many Greenbelt Players' productions, as Henry's wife, Eleanor of Aquitaine. Henry's sons are played by Jeff Beyrent, a former Greenbelt resident now living in Laurel, a familiar figure on the Utopia's stage, as Richard, who later was called the Lionhearted; Bruce Pope, who has appeared at the Utopia in The Glass Menagerie and Twiss, as Geoffrey; and Joseph Ross of Boxwood, a veteran of The Water Engine at the Utopia, as John.

Kelly Holl, of Greenbriar, another veteran performer of the Utopia, appears as Alice, the beloved of both Henry and Richard; and Bob Mogel, who grew up in Greenbelt, who is making his first appearance in a Greenbelt Players production, as Phillip, King of France.

Lion in Winter is a Greenbelt Players production directed by former Greenbelter Cliff Smith, who has directed several Utopia productions, including The Glass Menagerie and Kaleidoscope. The play will be performed on Friday and Saturday evenings, November 11, 12, 18, 19, 25, and 26 at 8:15 p.m. and Sunday, November 20 at 2:30 p.m. There is an admission charge.

Our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Una Conrad of Southway on the death of her husband Carl.

Congratulations to Norman McCarthy of Greenhill Road on being honored recently for his work with the Greenbelt Boys' and Girls' Club. Norman is retiring as manager of the 8-12-years-old baseball team, and a proclamation honoring him for his service was presented at the Prince Georges County Council meeting Nov. 8 by Council Chairman Frank P. Casula and Councilman Richard J. Castaldi of Greenbelt.

A very happy birthday greeting to Mrs. Lillian D. Parker of Green Ridge House. To celebrate her 84th birthday on November 3, she had lunch with one of her granddaughters, was given a surprise birthday party at the home of one of her sons, Lewis S. Parker, Jr., and received a congratulatory letter from President Reagan.

Mrs. Parker has five children, 17 grandchildren, and 23 great-grandchildren. Her very close friends Charles and Bert Batch, and their daughter, joined the large number of family members at the celebration.

Bert Donn, Becky Williams and Stephen Ready, representing the Greenbelt Peace Committee, presented a puppet show as part of the "Kids Night Out" program at the Community Church recently. The show, a message of Peace, was first given at the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival.

Pfc. William E. McCormick, III, son of S. Jean McCormick of Hanover Parkway, has arrived for duty at Camp Casey, South Korea. A flight operations coordinator with the 2nd Infantry Division, he was previously assigned to Fort Rucker, Ala.

Police Blotter

Compiled by Mavis Fletcher

A woman was assaulted in the 6200 block of Breezewood Dr. at about 11:30 a.m. on Nov. 8 when a man offered to help her get her car started. After she let him in the car, he attempted to assault her; she fought back and he inflicted several wounds on her with a razor-like instrument. When the woman continued to resist, the man robbed her and fled. The woman suffered multiple wounds but did not require hospitalization. The man is described as a white male about 27 years old, 5'10", with brown hair almost collar length. He was wearing brown dress slacks, a beige and brown sweater and a beige sports shirt. The police request that anyone having information about this crime or who can offer additional description should call the Greenbelt Police Department at 474-7200.

A purse-snatching took place in the parking area at Eleanor Roosevelt High School on Nov. 8. Two juvenile males took a girl's purse and fled into the woods.

A rash of breaking and entering cases occurred on Nov. 4, all at about the same time during

A window was broken in a residence in the 9200 block of Edmonston Rd., the home was entered, and a typewriter, jewelry and silver were taken. And a home in Whitebriar Court in Boxwood was entered through an unlocked door, and cash was taken.

Little League Awards Banquet

by Martin Murray

The Awards Banquet on Sunday, Oct. 16, was truly a banquet this year. The Greenbelt American Legion generously provided the hall and fed over 300 family members of Little Leaguers. Speaker Charles Sullivan, baseball coach from DeMatha, encouraged the boys and girls to seek baseball scholarships to college.

Jim Barron and Robert Bowen received the Most Valuable Player Award. Rookies-of-the-Year Awards were presented to Tommy Ray and Greg Klem. Nine boys received Outstanding Player of the Year, James Jordan, Pat Conrad, Sparky Wilson, Steffan Sonneveldt, Chris Lee, Robert Bowen, Lee Santos, Jim Barron and Sean Luddy.

Awards were also given to the World Series teams, the Cardinals and Indians.

Retiring Norm McCarthy, Indian manager for twenty years, was honored with a watch and a standing ovation. This was his last year. Dave Smyth, Cardinal coach, received the Volunteer of the Year Award presented by Hank Irving.

Mayor Gil Weidenfeld, City Councilman Ed Putens and County Councilman Richard Castaldi also attended. President Jerry Shafer thanked Post Commander, Sam Hoffberg for the Legion's generosity in sponsoring and sponsibility for the costs of appeals and Atlanta Insurance said it "is not interested" in funding a new trial.

The judge is expected to set a date for hearing the post-trial motions, although he could reject the requests in a written order.

According to City Manager James Giese, City Solicitor Emmett Nanna has advised city officials that Murray, not the city, should bear responsibility for any legal challenge to the refusal of the insurance firms to pay the awarded damages. As a result of that opinion, Murray is now being represented, as an individual, hosting the event.

by attorney Benjamin R. Wolman of the Upper Marlboro law firm of Wolman, Gushee and Newman. (Wolman also represents separately and on an ongoing basis, the Greenbelt Lodge of the Fraternal Order of Police.)

Wolman has told the News Review that he and Murray are considering possible legal action, but that they have made no decisions. One such action, Wolman said, might be to ask an appropriate court to rule that the insurance companies are wrong in their interpretations of their policies, and that the damages and attorneys' fee awards are to be paid by the companies. Another step, according to Wolman, could be an appeal of the Fourth District Court decision.

viously elated by the board's action in passing the budget so early in the year, stated that members can expect notification of next year's charges by mid-December. Any questions can thus be resolved before the first payment is due. Or, as he put it: "I'll be able to enjoy Christmas for the first time in years!"

In a separate action, the board also voted to retain Stegman and Co., the present auditors, to perform this year's audit for a fee not to exceed $20,500.

GDC

A meeting of the board of Greenbelt Development Corporation was also held at the beginning of the evening. The board set the hourly fee for maintenance work done for GDC by GHI at $20 per hour, the same rate as last year. The board also passed unanimously a motion to keep rents in GDC apartments at their current levels. In reply to a member's query about the possibility of raising rents to provide a higher return on investment, Narasimhan explained that rents in GDC properties have traditionally been kept at moderate levels and that they are, at present, at or slightly below the 'going' rate for comparable apartments.

The GDC board also received a third quarter financial statement which showed a year-to-date profit of slightly more than $11,000.

The December GHI board meetings will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 6 and Thursday, Dec. 15.

time of the 1981 incident.

Giese told the group that the city's police liability coverage in 1981 was considered the best then obtainable, but that it did not specifically cover civil rights claims. Now, according to Giese, almost all aspects of potential police liability are covered in the new policy just issued to the city by Imperial Casualty and Indemnity Company. Giese pointed out that it is impossible to cover in an insurance policy every "gray area" that might arise in police work.

A. R. Keir, agent for Imperial, explained that the policy is intended to include coverage for actions relating to all sections of the federal civil rights statute.

Prolonged discussion, however, brought agreement between city officials and FOP representatives that certain clauses in the policy need to be clarified by Imperial, and that the city may need to negotiate with Imperial changes in some provisions.

One item of particular concern to the FOP was a clause in the Imperial policy excluding from coverage "damages arising out of the willful violation of a penal code or ordinance. . . ." The officers felt this exclusion seemed to cancel out the protection supposedly given them by the policy against damage judgments, under civil rights and assault and battery laws, for personal injuries as a result of wrongful acts arising out of law enforcement activities. This concern brought caveats from both Nanna and Giese. Nanna, while agreeing that clarification of the clause is needed, said he does not think any insurance company will cover an "intentional act," a "willful act," or a "deliberate tort." Giese concurred in that assessment. Giese later told the News Review that the object of the city is only to protect its employees for acts they may take in good faith in the performance of their duties.

CONSIDERING A CHANGE IN RESIDENCE?

There are three key elements to consider:

- A) Your needs: things you positively have to have.
- B) Your wants: things you'd like to have, but don't necessarily need.
- C) Your qualifications:
 - 1) Your initial investment (cash to move in)
 - 2) Your total income (gross yearly income)
 - 3) Your debt service (total indebtedness)

I would like the opportunity to discuss with you how we can combine these three factors to assist you and your family in achieving your housing goals both within Greenbelt and the metropolitan area - of course with no obligation.
